

Save the date for conference

“The Present and Future of Fetal Surgery”

6 -7 November 2014 in Vilnius, Lithuania

The event is a great opportunity to explore key issues in prenatal diagnostics and treatment of fetal anomalies: Spina bifida, Lung lesions, Urinary defects, Brain abnormalities, Heart defects, Congenital diaphragmatic hernia, Fetal imaging, use of laser for TTS, Special Considerations in Maternal-Fetal Anesthesia, Organization of fetal therapy.

This comprehensive conference brings together a diverse audience of leading international and Lithuanian and experts in prenatal diagnostics and treatment of fetal anomalies, gynecologists and obstetricians, surgeons, neurosurgeons, MRI specialists, cardiologists, urologists, intensive care and anesthesiology specialists, geneticists, and others to network and share best-practices everyone can take back to their workplaces.

Please join us! Stay tuned to the “The Present and Future of Fetal Surgery” website (at www.educor.eu) for continued updates and registration information.

This Conference will be a joint effort of Vilnius University Hospital Obstetrics and Gynecology clinic (Prof. G. Drasutiene) and the University hospital of Leuven Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology (Prof. Dr. J. Deprest).

Local organizers

Supporting organizer

Event management and secretariat

www.educor.eu, info@educor.eu

Phone No.: + 370 685 67383

Main sponsor and partner

